

Note from NOBEL PEACE PRIZE WATCH

This nomination may seem to pursue a broad and general peace concept, but the NPPW considers the GCPE qualified for the Nobel prize since its work is based on “a concept of education for the abolition of war, illuminating the fundamental need for a non-arms dependent alternative system of global security. Thus, the practice of peace education advanced by the Global Campaign on educating citizens of all ages, is directed toward the achievement of such a system.”

Parallell, almost identical nomination entered by Senator Marilou McPhedran, Senate of Canada
